the strongest overview i have encountered of the scope and the current state of research across all the fields involved in advancing our understanding of tourism for its range of topics depth of analyses and distinction of its contributors nothing is comparable professor dean maccannell university of california davis the breadth of vision and sweep of accounts is remarkable and range of topics laudable a rare combination of the authoritative the challenging and stimulating professor mike crang durham university tourism studies developed as a sub branch of older disciplines in the social sciences such as anthropology sociology and economics and newer applied fields of study in hospitality management civil rights and transport studies this handbook is a sign of the maturity of the field it provides an essential resource for teachers and students to determine the roots key issues and agenda of tourism studies exploring the evolution and position of tourism studies the relationship of tourism to culture the ecology and economics of tourism special events and destination management methodologies of study tourism and transport tourism and heritage tourism and postcolonialism global tourist business operations ranging from local to global issues and from questions of management to the ethical dilemmas of tourism this is a comprehensive critically informed constructively organized overview of the field it draws together an inter disciplinary group of contributors who are among the most celebrated names in the field and will be quickly recognized as a landmark in the new and expanding field of tourism studies how do we re theorize tourism by drawing less on the foucauldian notion of tourism as gazing and instead focusing on the social construction of meaning in the landscape this insightful book provides an innovative and compelling new approach to tourist studies arguing that in any view of the landscape and in tourism generally there is a multiplicity of insider and outsider meanings the book grounds tourism studies within the framework of social theory and particularly in the social theoretic approaches to landscape bringing together specialists in tourism and landscape studies to discuss the relationships between the two it finds that issues of identity are a common thread and are raised with regard to the social construction of landscape and its portrayal through tourism the international studies range in scale from regional to national personal to political and from local residents to international tourists highlighting the multiplicity of interpretations and meanings between these scales the extensively revised second edition of issues in cultural tourism studies provides a new framework for analyzing the complexity of cultural tourism and its increasing globalization in existing as well as emergent destinations of the world the book will focus in particular on the need for even more creative tourism strategies to differentiate destinations from each other using a blend of localized cultural products and innovative global attractions the book explores many of the most pertinent issues in heritage arts festivals indigenous ethnic and experiential cultural tourism in urban and rural environments alike this includes policy and politics impact management and sustainable development interpretation and representation marketing and branding and regeneration and planning as well as exploring the inter relationships between the cultural and tourism sectors local people and tourists the book provides suggestions for more effective and mutually beneficial collaboration new edition features include an increased number of topical case studies and contemporary photographs which serve to contextualize the issues discussed a re orientation towards global rather than just european issues three brand new chapters on the geography of cultural tourism the politics of global cultural tourism and the growth of creative tourism an extensively revised chapter on experiential tourism at the interface between the global and the local a people centred approach to planning and development is advocated to ensure that benefits are maximized for local areas a sense of place and identity are retained and the tourist experience is enhanced to the full the text is unique in that it provides a summary and a synthesis of all of the major issues in global cultural tourism which are presented in an accessible way using a diverse range of international case studies this is a beneficial and valuable resource for all tourism students in 1982 when my book the social psychology of tourist behaviour was published it was almost possible to review academic research on tourism in 1988 in a book of similar scale such a review is almost impossible the aim of the present volume is therefore to outline a body of work which adopts a consistent theme and method in exploring the topic of tourism the approach is one of emphasising tourists reactions and behaviours the work is both behavioural and cognitive and stems principally from applied traditions in social and environmental psychology the examples of tourist studies tend to be australian british and north american principally because work elsewhere in psychological studies of tourists is less well organised the nationality of the researchers should not however confine the application of the research findings since while the examples may be specific the results are applicable in brisbane boggor bogota the book is intended not just for academic tourism researchers but also for all psychologists so that they might note an understudied phenomenon within their discipline for leisure researchers it is hoped that it will provide an opportunity for them to see developments parallel to their own research efforts in studying recreational behaviour is it also a volume for tourism managers and executives in part it is and the sections such readers might find of particular interest are chapters 1 2 3 and 9 the creative tourist offers novelty in this field in that it discusses the creative tourism experience through a relational eudaimonic perspective thus extending current knowledge and bringing fresh insights from new materialist philosophy into creative tourism research the negotiation of expectations in tourism is a complex and dynamic process one that is central to the imagination of cultural difference expectations not only affect the lives and experiences of tourists but also their hosts and play an important part in the success or failure of the overall tourism experience it is for this reason the authors argue that special attention should be given to how expectations constitute and sustain tourism the case studies presented here explore what fuels the desires to visit particular places to what degree expectations inform the experience of the place and the frequent disjunctions between tourist expectations and experiences careful attention is paid to how the imagination of the visitor inspires the imagination of the host and vice versa how tourists and host communities actively imagine re imagine and shape each other s lives this realization has profound consequences not solely for academic analysis but for all those who participate in and work within the tourism industry argued with a real verve it makes a plea to rethink the role of tourism in modernity seeing it not as a fleeting and marginal element but as something enduring emblematic and constitutive of contemporary society tourism is seen as a key element of modern life not an escape from it mike crang department of geography university of durham tourism is a rapidly growing area of student enrolment lecturers and students who have waited patiently for an up to date lucid and indispensable teaching and research text need wait no more this book is a matchless guide to understanding the theory practice development and effects of tourism tourism an introduction equips students with a critical perspective of the central processes of tourism and the relationship between tourism and culture places tourism at the heart of modern life rather than as a peripheral feature added on after work illuminates the relationship between tourism and nation formation citizenship consumerism and globalization reveals the ritual performative and embodied dimensions of tourist experience this book offers readers a major synthesis of modern thought on tourism it breaks the mould of approaching tourism as a self contained compartment of contemporary life and treats it as a major and exciting cultural phenomenon this is a landmark work in the study of tourism adrian franklin is the editor of the acclaimed journal tourist studies sage publications this book is unique in expertly linking three populations tourists migrants and refugees and forcing the reader to face the dilemmas and opportunities each poses for development in poor countries linda richter kansas state university as travelers increasingly seek out the exotic wildlife and idyllic sunsets of the developing world a complex relationship involving tourism the migration of workers and the involuntary displacement of peoples has emerged milica bookman explores that relationship and the connection between population movements and economic development in third world countries bookman s multicountry analysis demonstrates forcefully that tourism both induces migration and displacement and is enabled by them in a self reinforcing circular flow these population movements she argues likewise are both a cause and effect of economic growth they are not however a panacea for developing countries throughout her study bookman underscores the human costs of tourism led development emphasizing the need for greater attention to the social dislocations that it brings about milica z bookman is professor of economics at st joseph s university she is author of eight books including ethnic groups in motion and the demographic struggle for power and is the recipient of the tengelman award for excellence in teaching and research contents introduction growth and population movements in tourist friendly countries tourists and other travelers migrants and immigrants refugees and internally displaced peoples the circular flow of populations and the global economy
